

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. ## EXPLANATION OF THE CATALOGUE.

First.—There is a catalogue of all the works in the Library, except Novels, Tales, Romances, &c.,) arranged alphabetically, according to the names of the authors, so far as they are known.

Some of the works are marked with a star (thus *) at the end of the line, which signifies that those works are not to be taken out, but may be consulted in the library.

Second.—There is a Classified Index, or Catalogue, in which the titles of all the works, (except Tales, Novels, &c.,) are arranged under the heads of the several branches of science or literature of which they respectively treat.

At the beginning of the classified index (page 215) is an explanation of the mode of using it.

Third.—A catalogue of all the Novels, Tales, &c., arranged alphabetically, according to the titles of the works; such of the names of the authors as are known being added at the end of each line, in italics.

Fourth.—A catalogue of all the Novels, Tales, &c., of which the names of the authors are known, arranged under those names.

Fifth.—There is a table of contents, which shows the page of the classified index on which the works on any subject are to be found.

OF THE ### LIBRARY AND READING ROOMS.

Extracts from the By-Laws of the Library Committee.

OF THE LIBRARIAN.

SECTION 1.—The Library and Reading Rooms shall be under the care and administration of the Librarian, and shall be open, during such hours as the Library Committee shall direct, every day except Sundays, the Fourth of July, General Fast and Thanksgiving days, Christmas and New-Year's days, and such other days as the Library Committee may designate.

SEC. 3.—He shall deliver to any reader, applying personally, or to his written order, such books as he may be entitled to receive under the provisions and regulations of the Library Committee, and keep, in ledgers provided for that purpose, an accurate account of the name or number of every volume delivered by him; the name of the person to whom delivered; the time of taking and returning the same; and such other information as may be necessary.

SEC. 4.—He shall sell catalogues, collect all dues, fines, forfeitures, &c., incurred by persons taking out books.

SEC. 5.—At each Monthly meeting of the Library Committee, he shall send to the Committee a written report containing such of the following particulars as may from time to time be required by the Committee:

First.—The number of accounts opened and closed with readers during the month—designating the apprentices, females, the members of the Society, and the pay-readers' accounts.

Second.—The whole number of readers of each description, at the beginning and end of each month, the name of each delinquent reader, the name of the guarantee, the value of the volume or volumes in each case, and amount of fines.

SEC. 6.—The Librarian shall report to the Chairman, at the meeting of the Committee in the month of October in each year, the names of such persons as have out any books belonging to the Library, and have retained them over the time of the recess, and all other delinquencies of readers, with the several amounts remaining unpaid.

SEC. 7.—He shall examine, with care, all books as they are returned, in order to ascertain whether they have been injured or defaced, and replace them in their proper positions as soon after as possible.

SEC. 8.—He shall see that the books and furniture in the Library and Reading Rooms, and all things connected therewith, are kept in good order and condition; and he shall take care that all the rules and regulations of the Library and Reading Rooms are strictly adhered to.

SEC. 9.—The Assistant Librarian shall perform the duties of the Librarian during his absence.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

SEC. 10.—All persons under twenty-one years of age, employed as Apprentices, and all females employed by mechanics or tradesmen in their business, on presentation of a proper certificate, (blank forms of which can be obtained from the Librarian,) may take out books from the Apprentices' Library, and also have the privilege of reading the periodicals on the tables in the Library, without charge.

SEC. 11.—Such Apprentices and Youths, who are sixteen years of age, and of suitable character and deportment, may be admitted into the De Milt Reading Room by the Librarian, on the payment of fifty cents per annum.

SEC. 12.—Each Member of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, and Widow of a deceased member, are entitled to take books from the Apprentices' Library themselves, or to authorize one of their minor children to do so in their names, without charge; but a member or Widow may not transfer this right to any other person. A Reading Room (designated as the Mechanics' Reading Room) is provided exclusively for Members of the Society. Sons of members, over sixteen, and not over twenty-one years of age, may have access to the De Milt Reading Room, free of charge. The families of deceased members are entitled to the rights of members.

SEC. 13.—Teachers of the Mechanics' Society's School may take out books of the Apprentices' Library, and have access to the De Milt Reading Room, without charge.

SEC. 14.—Journeymen Mechanics or Tradesmen, Teachers in Schools or Academies, Students in Academies, Colleges, &c., Youths in the offices of Lawyers, Physicians or Artists, or other suitable persons, may take out books from the Apprentices' Library; if sixteen years of age, and of good character and deportment, have access to the De Milt Reading Room, on presentation of a proper certificate (blank forms of which can be obtained from the Librarian) and the payment of two dollars per annum.

SEC. 15.—Mechanics or Tradesmen, Artists or other suitable persons, in business on their own account, may take out books from the Apprentices' Library, and have access to the De Milt Reading Room, on presentation of a proper certificate, and the payment of two dollars per annum.

LOANING AND RETURNING BOOK, &c.

SEC. 16.—Any person entitled to take books from the Apprentices' Library may, during the hours appointed for the Library to be open, receive from the Librarian either one folio, one quarto, one octavo or one duodecimo volume; but if the work be an octavo or duodecimo, and consist of more than one volume relating to the same subject, then he may take the whole set, if it consist of not more than two octavo or three duodecimo volumes; but he shall not be allowed to detain the set, or a part of a set, for a longer time than is allowed for a single volume.

SEC. 17.—Books taken out may be retained, if octavo or larger volumes (except novels), three weeks; and if duodecimo volumes (or novels), two weeks.

SEC. 18.—When a book is returned, it may be renewed (that is, taken out again by the same person), excepting new publications, which shall not be renewed until they have been three months in the Library ; and no book shall be renewed unless it is first returned to the Library.

SEC. 19.—No book shall be reserved by the Librarian for any person whatever.

SEC. 20.—Any person who shall detain a book or set of books longer than the time allowed by these Regulations, shall forfeit and pay to the Librarian, if it be an octavo or larger volume, six cents a week, and if a duodecimo, three cents a week for every week it is so detained, and any time less than a full week shall be counted as a week.

SEC. 21.—Any person who shall lose, or mutilate, or deface by writing or marking, or otherwise injure any book, shall make the same good to the Librarian ; and if the book so lost or injured be one of a set, shall pay to the Librarian the full value of said set, and will thereupon be entitled to the remaining volumes.

SEC. 22.—Any person who shall mutilate or deface any book, periodical, newspaper, or any article of use or furniture of the Apprentices' Library shall be liable to a fine of three times the cost of the injured article, or be excluded from the premises.

SEC. 23.—Readers shall not be entitled to take out books from the Library so long as any dues, fines, forfeitures, &c., remain unpaid that have been demanded of them by the Librarian, and until they shall have made good all loss or damage, occasioned by them or through their negligence.

SEC. 24.—No periodical shall be taken from the Library until two months after the time it was received ; nor shall any person lend any book or publication belonging to the Library, to any one not of their own family and residing with them.

SEC. 25.—Books returned are to be handed to the person in attendance, also the number and name of the work desired given at the same time, by the reader ; or a list of the numbers, and names of several, lest his first choice should not then be in the Library. When any book is taken from the shelves, the applicant will repair to the Desk, and in turn go forward, until the person in attendance having arrived at the work returned, asks for the number of the folio, when it shall be given promptly and distinctly, the applicant explaining at the same time whether the book is to be renewed, or what is wished relating to it.

SEC. 26.—No smoking or lighted segars or pipes, shall be allowed in the Library, or in any of the rooms connected with it, and no words shall be spoken but in a low tone of voice, nor shall any continued conversation be allowed.

OF THE DE MILT LIBRARY.

SECTION 1.—The De Milt Library shall be kept exclusively as a Library for reference.

SEC. 3.—No book can be taken from this Library except by special permission of the Standing Committee ; but any book may be consulted in the Library Room, by Members of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, or by any other person designated in Sections 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, of Art. IV. of these By-Laws.

SEC. 6.—Blank forms will be furnished by the Librarian to those who wish to consult works in the De Milt Library, in which the applicant shall fill in the title of the work, the date of application, and affix his signature and the number of his folio thereto, when the book will be handed to him ; and such applicant will be held responsible for it until the return of the work.

SEC. 7.—Any person entitled to the privileges of the De Milt Library, will, on application to the Librarian, receive a card of admission, which he shall exhibit when required so to do by the Librarian or other person in attendance.

SEC. 6.—The Librarian will, on application, supply those who are entitled to consult them, with such books from the De Milt Library as they may desire. (For the Form of Application, see Sec. 4.)

The Committee will consider it their duty to exclude from the privileges of the Library and Reading Rooms ANY persons who shall willfully persist in disregarding these Regulations, or whose conduct in other respects is detrimental to the character or proper and orderly management thereof.

ADDITIONAL REGULATIONS.

As the Library Room is often much crowded, and a number of persons are, at the same time, waiting to have their books exchanged, the following regulations are adopted, with a view to prevent confusion or mistakes, and to facilitate business:

1. Each reader is expected to bring with him a list of several books, such as he would like to take out, so that if the one he would prefer should be out, one of the others may be in.

In making such a list, both the numbers and names of the books should be given, and they should be written in the same manner as they are printed in the catalogue.

If the same list is brought a second time, the names of all books which have been read, or are not wanted, should be stricken off from it.

If none of the books named on the list are in, then ask, at the counter, for any other you wish to take; and in doing so mention both the number and the name.

If a reader wishes to return a book and not take out another, he should go to the counter and hand it to the person in attendance, telling him that he does not wish to take another, then go the desk, and in his turn give his folio, and again say he does not wish to take another.

2. Books will be taken in only at the counter and given out only at the desk.

In order to get a book, hand your list to the person in attendance at the counter, and do not follow him to other parts of the room, but remain at the counter until he returns.

When a book is brought for you, hand in the one you wish to return and then go to the desk.

3. Books are brought from the shelves to the desk and placed in regular order; each person, therefore, should place himself in order corresponding to that of his books, and come forward in his proper turn. No advantage will be gained by crowding around the front of the desk.

When a person hears the name of the book called which he returned, he should give, promptly and distinctly, the number on his folio ticket; and if he does not wish to take another he should say so.

Books will not be delivered to any person having a lighted segar or pipe with him.
